An Invitation to Exhibit at Botany & Mycology 2009

An anticipated 1000 leading scientists expected to attend this year's conference at beautiful Snowbird

The past Botany Conferences have brought together a wide mix of researchers, professors, educators and motivated graduated students, all focused on what's new in Botany. Botany & Mycology 2009 promises to be one of the most successful in the series.

We anticipate over 1000 participants to present over 700 scientific contributions including special symposia, papers, posters, and special lectures. A full slate of field trips and scientific and education workshops will round out the program.

This annual meeting of five leading professional botanical societies, the Mycological Society of America, the American Bryological and Lichenological Society, the American Fern Society, the American Society of Plant Taxonomists and the Botanical Society of America, attracts students, active educators and researchers that are constantly looking for new materials and scientific equipment to enhance and further their research and teaching. They represent significant purchasing power and future leaders for their universities and institutions. And when surveyed - our attendees crave new exhibits and the ability to see new products at their Annual Conference.

Botany & Mycology 2009 is being held at the Snowbird Resort and Conference Center near Salt Lake City, Utah. The Exhibit Hall will be the hub of the conference - General Sessions, refreshment breaks, poster session, and social events will be located in close proximity to the Exhibit Hall.

The Exhibit hours have been designed to allow as much exposure to conference attendees as possible and also to allow exhibitors time to attend scientific sessions, social events, workshops, field trips, and to most importantly to network with prospective clients.

The Botany meetings are designed to draw an audience primarily involved in the teaching of Botany on many levels, from kindergarten through post-graduate education. From textbooks and educational materials through lab equipment this is the perfect opportunity for marketing your products.

Schedule for Botany & Mycology 2009

*Second Place Botany 2008

- Saturday, July 25 - The conference will begin with a menu of field trips designed to highlight the Botany and the Beauty of the Wasatch Mountain area.
- Sunday, July 26 - A day full of more field trips, workshops and information sessions designed to enhance plant science education. The day ends with a Plenary Address by noted ethnobotanist Nancy Turner, followed by the the All-Society Mixer
- Monday, July 27 - kicks off the scientific sessions with conference-wide refreshment breaks and an expected 700+ scientific presentations including exclusive poster presentations held in the Exhibit Hall
- Tuesday July 28 - more scientific sessions and a second exclusive Poster Session to be held in the Exhibit Hall
- Wednesday, July 29 - still more sessions and the All Society Banquet will wrap up the meeting.

During the Conference

Each organization purchasing an exhibit space will be provided with:

- One 8' skirted table and two chairs. Additional furniture may be rented from the decorator. More information to follow in the Exhibit Service Kit in late May, 2009.
- An Exhibitor ID sign.
- An Exhibitor Lounge with snacks & beverages.
- A formal listing in the conference program, which will be distributed to all attendees (an expected audience of over 1000). The listing will include contact and address information and a 50-100 word description of your organization.

Three complimentary registrations to the conference, which will allow exhibitors full access to scientific sessions as well as the ability to attend workshops and field trips as desired.

Pre-and Post-Conference Marketing

As soon as Botany & Mycology 2009 processes your application to exhibit, a link to your company's web site will be posted on the official conference web site and will remain active for as long as the link is live after the conference. (www.2009.botanyconference.org)

A Special Opportunity To Showcase Your Products

One 10' x 10' booth space is available to qualified exhibitors that present a full or half-day workshop Sunday, July 26th.

Sessions and workshops provide a means for participants to explore novel approaches to integrating plants into the classroom and to reach out and broaden participation in science. With a variety of formats from discussions to workshops, the day is a must for teachers and also for researchers who are interested in making their results accessible to students of biology at all levels. The global significance of plants continues to grow. It is therefore vital that plant scientists and their professional societies work to ensure that plants are represented in the undergraduate and graduate curriculum, as well as in science outreach initiatives.

Workshop topics presented by education and public outreach institutions at previous conferences include: Scientific Inquiry through Developing New Inquiry Units, Techniques of Digital Image Enhancement for Teaching and Research, Integrating Digital Imaging, Into the Laboratory Curriculum, Wisconsin Fast Plants, Using the Original and Newly Improved Versions of C-Fern® in Inquiry-based Teaching, Developing a Hands-on Distance Education Laboratory in Nonmajors General Biology, and Strategies for Guiding Student Investigations.

Workshop Package ($1,000 value)$500.00

If your organization is interested in participating in this special program, please submit your workshop proposal on the conference website. Space is available on a first come, first served basis and is limited to eight (8) workshop proposals. Request to participate does not guarantee acceptance.

For more information about the workshops see the conference website: www.2009botanyconference.org
